Allain appoints Johnston, Gex to Port and Harbor

Huey Johnston of Bay St. Louis and Nancy Gex of Waveland have been appointed to the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission by Governor Bill Allain.

James DeBlanc, executive director of the commission, confirmed the appointments Friday.

Johnston was selected from a list of six nominations submitted by Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry J. Bennett. Mrs. Gex was nominated along with incumbent commissioner Perry Gibson by Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr.

Allain originally appointed the two commission representatives in February. However, the appointments were withdrawn after it was revealed that they had been made without recommendations from the Bay St. Louis and Waveland city governments.

The recommendations are required by law.

Johnston is a construction firm executive in Bay St. Louis. Mrs. Gex is co-owner of a family business.

Judge reduces bail for drug offenders

Judge James Thomas has reduced bail for four people arrested in April when authorities seized 3,600 pounds of marijuana at a Pearlington residence.

Bail is now set at $250,000 for Jeffrey D. Kerr, Pearlington; $250,000 for Peter Kerr, Pearlington; $250,000 for Hugh Turner, San Rafael, Calif.; and $100,000 for Winslow Byrne, Wakefield, R.I.

Bail was originally set at $1 million each when the four and a 15-year-old juvenile were arrested April 17. Judge Thomas made the reductions Friday after Jim Dukes and Richard Fitzpatrick, defense attorneys for the four, made the request in an oral motion.

Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said Peter Kerr paid 10 percent as a surety bond on the $250,000 set by the judge and was released Friday. The other three are still being held.

All four are charged with possession of marijuana with intent to sell or distribute and conspiracy to distribute marijuana.

The charges resulted from a three-month investigation involving the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, U.S. Customs, Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics and Mississippi Drug Enforcement Administration.

In the arrest, 76 bales of marijuana, a safe containing $236,667, 27 weapons, radio equipment, a boat and three vehicle were seized from a residence and a storage shed at 41 Riverside Drive in Pearlington, the address listed for Peter and Jeffrey Kerr.

The marijuana was believed to have been from South America. Authorities burned it at the Catahoula dump after the arrest.

Judge reduces bond for suspect

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

James D. Deaton, 49, waived preliminary hearing on grand larceny charges Wednesday evening in Justice Court.

Deaton and Theresa Campbell, 25, both residents of a mobile home in Pearlington, are charged with grand larceny in connection with allegations that they picked up a hiker in Slidell, La. on May 19 and took off with his belongings after they stopped at the Hancock County Hospitality Center on Wednesday Judge Bruce Necaise reduced Deaton's bond from $50,000 to $10,000, but Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Alvin Ladner reported Thursday that Deaton was still incarcerated in the county jail.

Campbell's preliminary hearing was continued for two weeks Wednesday.

She is out of jail under a $25,000 bond.

The two also face armed robbery charges for allegedly robbing Tennessee National Guardsman William Smith on April 26 at the Washington Street pier in Bay St. Louis.

LAWN MOWER SAFETY

Spring showers not only bring May flowers, but also grassy lawns. Therefore, many Hancock Countians will be cranking lawn mowers in an effort to keep their lawns looking attractive.

Hospital emergency room treatment reports show that lawn mower accidents lead the injury list in the mowing season. Many of these accidents could be prevented with proper use of the mower.

The cutting blade is the main hazard. When you are starting a push mower, brace it by putting one foot on the mower, with the other foot firmly planted on the ground. Always be on a riding mower before cranking it.

Do not clean a grass-clogged mower while the engine is running. Stop the engine to clean or work on the mower. This will protect you from blades and belts of power mowers. Disconnect the spark plug when turning the blade.

Never pull the mower toward you. Your foot could slip and go under the blade. Before mowing, make sure the grass is dry to avoid slipping and losing control of the mower.

Don't use a riding mower on steep slopes. The mower could overturn and seriously or fatally injure the driver. Drive up and down slopes on a riding mower to safely mow inclines.

Use a push mower on steep slopes. By pushing across the slope, not up and down, you are less likely to slip and fall near the cutting blade.

Objects picked up and hurled by the blade cause many injuries and even deaths. Clear the lawn of sticks, stones, wire and other debris to prevent such accidents. Stop the blade before crossing rocky driveways.

Make children and pets leave the mowing area so they will be out of range of objects thrown by the mower.

Never leave a mower running and do not let children operate the mower. Store the mower where children can't play with it and disconnect the spark plug as an added precaution.

Never add fuel to a running machine. Instead let the motor cool first. Keep gas in an approved safety container to prevent fire and burns.

Operate riding mowers only from the driver's seat. Start and stop the engine while in this position. Do not carry passengers and watch for children and pets.

You may not have fun mowing your lawn this season, but by practicing these safety tips, you can enjoy your lawn in the best of health.

DOUBLE CHANGING

Many farmers are considering double cropping to increase income and improve cash flow. Double cropping and maximum use of land also reduces soil erosion by providing ground cover year round.

However, soybean yields are usually 15 to 30 percent lower when planted after a wheat crop, although this may range from no yield reduction up to complete crop failure.

With better planting equipment, herbicides and proper planning, you can keep these potential yield reductions from double cropping much lower today than you could just a few years ago.

No single method of double cropping has proven superior. Therefore, you should evaluate several approaches in keeping with soil type, weed species and planting equipment. Irrigation also reduces the risk involved in double cropping.

A major reason double cropped soybeans yield less than single cropped beans is generally because of a later planting date and lack of soil moisture. Research has clearly shown that soybean yields decline rapidly when planted after mid-June. Anything that can contribute to early planting of soybeans behind wheat will help the potential yield.

For tips on double cropping systems and proper procedures, contact the Extension office.

Glass container use illegal on beaches

Summer is again upon us and many residents, as well as visitors plan activities which include use of our beaches.

Many people using our beaches respect the laws in all respects, yet there are just a few who ignore them.

As a for instance, ordinances are in force which ban the use of glass containers, yet empty beer bottles can be found.

The empty beer bottles are very serious as many of them end up being broken.

Nothing can destroy an outing on the beach like a cut foot, and unfortunately this happens quite frequently.

Every summer many persons are treated for cuts at Hancock General Hospital, and some very seriously. This happens because some one is careless and violates the law.

The unfortunate thing of course, is the persons using the glass bottles on the beaches are not the ones injured by them.

We urge everyone using our beaches, please leave the glass containers home.

BIG TOMATOES—Edro Lee of Leetown views his 1984 super crop of tomatoes at his farm. Lee is one of many Hancock County farmers who is a regular at the Farmers Market each Wednesday and Saturday morning offering homegrown produce. He said this year's crop of tomatoes appears to be some of the best he has grown and is now beginning to harvest them. Even with the dry weather, it appears many folks have nice tomato crops this season, as we have seen many about town.

Health Hotline

By JOHN M. BEAMAN, M.D.
Health Information Services

Q: My mother is elderly and lives alone. She is usually able to care for herself very well, but during the summer, she seems to deteriorate greatly and sometimes needs hospitalization with IV fluids. Why would this happen only in the summer?

A: This is a problem seen every summer in elderly patients who live in un-air conditioned homes. The fluid regulation mechanism in this age group tends to malfunction easily and allows dehydration to become a major problem. The best solution is to provide air conditioning for these people but, when this is not feasible, fans and plenty of cool liquid to drink will usually prevent dehydration. This is just one reason why the elderly should be checked frequently by friends and relatives.

Q: My daughter had asthma as a child and it was a real problem for a while but then she grew out of it and she hasn't had an attack for years. Recently, I began to have trouble breathing at times and my doctor started me on a medicine for bronchospasm which has taken care of the problem. Is this bronchospasm just an adult version of asthma?

A: Bronchospasm, which means constriction of the small breathing tubes, and asthma are really the same and can occur at any age. There do seem to be differences between the typical courses of the disease depending upon whether the first attack occurs in childhood or adulthood. The childhood version can be quite severe, requiring numerous medications and trips to the emergency room but children seem to "grow out of it," as your daughter did, and are usually asthma-free as adults. The adult type can also be severe but the long-term course is much more variable: sometimes it can be one or two attacks, or it could become a chronic problem. Regardless, the disease can almost always be controlled by medication and minor changes in the home environment. Most asthmatics lead perfectly normal lives.

If you have medical questions you would like answered by Dr. Beaman, please write: Dr. John M. Beaman, Perry County Family Care Center, Drawer AC, Richton, Ms. 39476.

INVASION MOMENTOS—Sp4 Robert Koller, USA, left, of Waveland, presents a bullet pouch and other souvenirs he collected during the Granada invasion in which he participated to Ed Vaughn, commander of the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray

Quotables by CUEVAS

We were really impressed with the quality of locally grown produce available at the Hancock County Farmers Market yesterday morning.

Local farmers were offering locally grown produce from red ripe tomatoes to delicious peaches and plums.

The Farmers Market is open on Wednesday and Saturday mornings from 7 a.m. to noon. It is located at the Hancock County Fairgrounds on Longfellow Road.

There are city farmers like Joe Compretta of Bay St. Louis and country farmers like Edro Lee of Leetown and many in between.

Many have been regular vendors for years at the local facility, which now has its own shed.

We received a telephone call on Friday morning from Sandra Henley, who told us of a young lady being apprehended on Thursday night.

The lady was caught by a Waveland police officer while removing some of the flowers planted under the sign at Coleman and Central Avenues.

We know the Waveland Police Department was keeping an eye on the planter under the sign, as several other plants had been removed in recent weeks.

There are people trying to do their best trying to improve the appearances of our communities and others trying just the opposite.

The flowers were planted by a person using money out of her own pocket to try to help improve the appearance of the area as she takes pride in her city.

Beautification is something in which everyone should be concerned and involved and we want to thank everyone who does their part.

Things are still jumping at the Buccaneer State Park's Wave Pool in Waveland.

The pool is now open on a daily basis from 11 a.m. to 6:45 p.m. according to Greg Smith, park manager.

The Wave Pool was the site for the crowning of Miss Buccaneer State Park Friday night, and we offer congratulations to Missy Nash of Pascagoula, who was selected as the winner.

As many of you know, Patti Lewis, 1983 Miss Buccaneer, also captured the state title of Miss State Park. Katie Joanne Hudson of Waveland was selected as first runner-up in Friday's event and should be commended for her selection.

There were a total of seven contestants and every one could have been a winner, so we really congratulate each of them.

We do wish the Buccaneer winner good luck in the state contest scheduled for July 14 in Jackson.

A Blood Drawing will be held on Wednesday, 2-8 at the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Home, Blue Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis.

Our blood supply is again very low and we are hoping many will donate a unit at this drawing.

One never knows when they will need a unit or how many units of blood.

One resident recently used 60 units, another said so our supply has gotten low, according to John Bontemps, Blood chairman.

We know there are many regulars who donate blood and so when they in addition to others, will be there on Wednesday.

MEC Mississippi Economic Council

Now that schools are out for summer vacation, traffic at the New Orleans World's Fair is expected to increase significantly. An average of at least 70,000 visitors daily is expected for the summer.

And, as the traffic expands, we can expect attendance at the Mississippi exhibit at the Fair to swell. That's good news.

Early reports are the Mississippi exhibit is among the most attractive at the World's Fair, and it's an exhibit in which Mississippians can take pride.

And, while we are taking pride in it, we may also find ourselves reaping a few economic benefits from it as well. Chances are the exhibit will encourage a few of the Fair goers to spend a day or two in Mississippi while they are in the area.

It seems that the state, and the Tourism Department of the Department of Economic Development, has performed an outstanding service for Mississippi and for Mississippians. They deserve our thanks.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If it concerns you, it concerns us.

Visitor complains about glass on sand beaches

Dear Editor;

First let me say all of us in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland area are blessed to have the wonderful beaches to enjoy. I have a week-end, summer home and look forward to each visit.

What I cannot understand is all the litter that is always scattered on the beach and in the water, including quite a bit of broken glass.

Have there ever been any litter barrels placed on the beach to help solve the problem? Everyone should care and preserve the wonderful gift our beaches are.

How about let's all pitch in and be proud of our beaches.

Sincerely,
Betty Costa,

U.S. Small Business Administration

Focus on Small Business

By Dorothy A. Overall
Public Information Officer
Biloxi Branch Office

Q: In my small business, I often hire workers on a part-time basis. Is this unusual among small firms?

A: Not at all. Small businesses are much more likely than large businesses to create part-time jobs.

A major reason is that most part-time workers are in retail and service establishments, most of which are small companies. Much of part-time work is clustered in eating and drinking places, which constitute one-third of the retail sector.

Government studies show there has been significant growth in part-time employment in industries dominated by small firms. In the services areas, for example, 22 percent of employees worked part-time in 1981, 25 percent more than 20 years earlier. There also was sizable part-time worker growth in wholesale and retail trade.

Research also indicates that in times of recession, small firms retain part-time workers even when it appears to be uneconomical. In this respect, small businesses tend to have a cushioning effect on employment during economic downturns.

Q: I'm thinking about starting a mail order firm. What products sell best in such a small business operation?

A: Generally speaking, products that sell well by mail are usually those not readily available in stores or other sources.

To discover such items requires studying many trade publications; attending product shows such as giftwares, housewares, stationery, jewelry, boutique and other consumer merchandise; contacting manufacturers, and answering ads.

Talk to friends, relatives and business associates and use any other means to find the elusive small order money-maker.

Study magazines and newspapers and review the ads appearing there over a period of time. Note ads that run consistently, month after month or several times a year.

Answer ads that are particularly interesting. Carefully study the catalogs, sales letters, brochures and sales literature received.

Study particularly all follow-up mailings received. You must learn from the promotions of the successful mail order firms that this will be a competitive market and know what the competition is doing.

Ideally, the most profitable mail order product is one which customers will buy repeatedly, or a variety of products from which customers may make repeated purchases.

Rarely, is a profitable mail order business established through the sale of a single product or any kind of one-shot offer.

"SERVICE IS OUR BUSINESS"

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

The gifted concert violinist Niccolò Paganini was standing before a packed house surrounded by a full orchestra. Shortly after beginning a very difficult piece one of the strings on his violin snapped and hung limply down from the instrument.

Relying on his genius he improvised and played on the next three strings.

To his surprise, shortly thereafter a second string broke. Now there were two strings dangling as he again began to improvise and play on two remaining strings.

You guessed it. Almost at the end of this magnificent concerto a third string snapped. Now three are dangling while he finishes the piece on one string.

The audience stands to its feet and applauds until their hands are numb; never thinking to ask for an encore. They expect to be leaving. When all of a sudden the great violinist holds his instrument high in the air and says, "Paganini—and one string!"

As he played the encore with the full orchestra accompaniment, he made more music out of one string than many other violinists ever could on four. Oh—the attitude of fortitude!

Some of you have like Paganini come down to one string. But the tragedy is that you're focusing your full attention on the three that have snapped.

And this attention span of yours has grown into a sense of bitterness, sorrow, self-pity, and perhaps blame.

Because those three strings have broken and you deserve four like everyone else—or so you think. The result has been a tragic souring of your attitude.

Readers, the longer I live, the more I realize the impact of that attitude. I am now convinced that life is ten percent what happens to me and 90 percent how I react to it!

And so it is with you as well. Tucked away in the glorious letter by Paul to the Christians in Philippi in Chapter Two, God's Word addresses the subject of our attitude:

"If there is any encouragement in Christ, if there is any consolation of love, if there is any fellowship of the Spirit, if any affection and compassion, make my joy complete by being of the same mind, maintaining the same love, united in spirit, intent on one purpose. Do nothing from selfishness or empty conceit, but with humility of mind let each of you regard one another as more important than himself; do not merely look out for your own interests, but also for the interests of others. Have this attitude in yourselves which was also in Christ Jesus." (Phil. 2:1-5 NAS)

The chapter includes three very big "ifs." If there is any encouragement, if there will be any consolation, if there will be any affection and compassion, then the attitude must be changed, says Paul!

God's Word speaks directly to each of us. You are in charge of your attitude. You are in charge of whether you live a selfish life or a self-giving life. You determine each day whether you will be filled with selfishness and empty conceit or humility of mind.

Dear God, help me this day to have the same attitude of your son Jesus. Help me to look outward and not inward. Teach me that service to my fellow man is the reason for my very existence. Most of all, Lord, help me to play to the best of my ability even when I only have one string to play on. Through Jesus. Amen.

ELVIN SMITH
Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Elvin J. Smith, son of Lucy C. Mitchell of Lakeshore, recently participated in the rescue of 35 Vietnamese Boat People in the South China Sea.

He is a crew member aboard the amphibious command ship USS Blue Ridge, operating from Yokosuka, Japan.

A small boat was sighted about 350 miles northeast of Cam Ranh Bay in the South China Sea. The Blue Ridge investigated and found the 35-foot motor-powered boat to be overcrowded and unseaworthy. The people aboard the boat had been at sea for eight days and were out of food and very low on water. All were in generally good health.

This was the second time the Blue Ridge has rescued Vietnamese Boat People in the South China Sea. The first rescue took place in October, 1980 when the ship took 92 Vietnamese people aboard.

The Blue Ridge is 620 feet long, has a crew of 720 and can accommodate an additional 700 people.

Gibson said during the April hearing on the motion to dismiss.

"The commissioner's decisions are automatic and he revokes licenses without an adjudication hearing."

But Thomas noted in his ruling that the driver may petition the court for a judicial review of the commissioner's decision.

Gibson also claimed Gutierrez was denied due process because his request for a jury trial in municipal court was denied and because there was then no city prosecutor in municipal court; that the test was inaccurate; that Gutierrez was not offered a blood or urine test; and that he was not given an immediate judicial or administrative hearing.

Thomas ruled there is no prohibition against trial without jury in municipal cases, noting defendants have a right to trial by jury on appeal to circuit court, and said no prejudice was shown due to lack of a city prosecutor.

No significant proof was offered that the breath test is inaccurate, Thomas ruled.

"This argument goes more to credibility of the test administered rather than due process claims," he wrote.

Noting that the Mississippi Supreme Court has not ruled on the questions Gibson raised, Thomas said the provisions of Mississippi Implied Consent Act are similar to those of numerous other states which have been reviewed by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Thomas quoted a U.S. Supreme Court ruling involving Massachusetts' Implied Consent Act in which the court ruled that the law did not violate due process and "the state's interest in public safety was substantially served by the summary suspension of licenses of those who refuse to take a breath analysis test upon arrest."

Thomas' ruling directed the court administrator to schedule Gutierrez' case for trial at the next term of court.

Local marina to serve as rodeo weigh station

By DENA BISNETTE

For the first time, a local marina will participate in the annual Deep South Fishing Rodeo.

Paradise Marina in Henderson Point will serve as an alternate weigh station for the event, scheduled for June 15, 16 and 17.

The event is headquartered at Battistella's Marina in Empire, La., with additional weigh stations at Port Eades, La., and Bon Voyage Marina in Grand Isle, La.

The rodeo, a charity event benefitting Children's Hospital in New Orleans, offers 123 trophies in 29 saltwater categories with adults' and children's divisions.

If one of the participants breaks the Louisiana Outdoor Writers' Association record for eligible fish, he will receive a 1984 Chevrolet Camaro from Benson Automotive World of New Orleans.

Philip Briant of Paradise Marina, one of the directors of the rodeo, said the Louisiana record is being used because Mississippi has no official saltwater record. He said Mississippi will have its first official record in July and the winner could come from the Deep South Fishing Rodeo.

This year's grand entrance prize will be a fishing trip to Belize, Central America, courtesy of TAN SAHSA Airlines. Purchasers of tickets for the adult division are eligible.

Tickets for the rodeo cost $15 for adults and $8 for children 12 or under. They are available from Paradise Marina, Pass Christian, Batt. Shop, Sports World in Waveland, Governor's Tackle Shop in Biloxi and Sports Unlimited in Gulfport.

The rodeo coincides with the opening of Paradise Marina, Briant said. The marina is a full-service facility with 98 slips and more under construction.

Hours for the weigh station at Paradise Marina during the rodeo will be 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. Friday, noon to 7 p.m. Saturday and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Edward D. "Eddie" Murtagh Jr., Tax Assessor/Collector for Hancock County will soon be sending notices of the results of the recently completed reappraisal. As soon as the Mississippi Tax Commission approached Hancock County in 1980, Murtagh began mapping land and measuring buildings. He has used a limited number of outside consultants and relied on local people to do the bulk of the work, saving the county a great deal of money. Additionally, he now has the staff and expertise to maintain the new maps and appraisals until it is time to equalize assessments again in a few years.

Reappraisal is not to raise taxes. The purpose is to equalize assessments. Senate Bill 2672 limits the total county revenues to a 10 percent increase over the previous year. Therefore, as appraisals are higher than prior years and the assessment ratio is 15 percent of true value (as it is currently in the county) the millage (tax rate) must be reduced. Tax on some property, already assessed near 15 percent of true value, will go down. Some properties, due to previous underassessment, will have an increase in property tax. This increase or decrease will depend on how the property was previously assessed in relation to the new assessment. The 10 percent limit does not apply to individual properties, only the total revenues of the taxing unit (district). Historically, 30 percent of property will decrease, 30 percent will increase, and 40 percent will remain the same. Because the rates have not yet been determined, no-one can estimate the 1985 tax bill on a particular property. Moreover, the homestead exemption law was recently changed. Instead of a $5,000 limit of assessed value, the limit has been raised to $7,500. Similar to the previous law, persons over 65 or totally disabled are 100 percent exempt on the first $7,500 of assessed value. This means that a homestead appraised for as much as $50,000 will be totally exempt. Others who have filed for a regular homestead exemption will receive a millage reduction of the first $7,500 of assessed value. Both types of exemptions will pay full tax rates on the amount assessed over $7,500 as in prior years.

Reappraisal is required by the August 1980 decision of the Mississippi Supreme Court and an order by the Hinds County Chancery Court enjoining the State Tax Commission from accepting or approving the tax rolls of any county unless all real and personal property subject to ad valorem taxation within the county was valued as nearly as possible at its true value. True value was defined by the courts as full or 100 percent value. Senate Bill 2672 further defined true value as the amount for which a willing seller would sell the property to a willing buyer. One major exception to this definition in SB2672 is true value of any land used for agricultural purposes. Appraisal of agricultural land is determined by criteria and values set forth in appraisal manuals of the State Tax Commission and is determined without regard to location. Parcels of land that are less than 10 acres in size are valued at market value. Also, a homestead is valued separately for each parcel that has a residence.

Many properties in the county are without addresses. If you do not receive a notice by June 15, 1984, please call 467-1039 or the assessor's office at 467-5727 to furnish an address. As your notice will state, if you have verified information that would affect this valuation please call 467-0130 to furnish this information to a representative of the Tax Assessor. The acreage shown on the notice may vary from the acreage you are deeded because of recalculation and roads, waterways, etc.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harwood Stieffel of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mrs. Carl Ray Aiken of Wyandotte, Mich. and Mr. Howard Roy Massengill of Asheville, N. C.

The altar was adorned with two wicker baskets of yellow gladioli, yellow enchantment lilies, white daisies and alstroemeria complemented with assorted greenery.

Musical selections were provided by Mrs. Mary Howard of Bay St. Louis, organist, and Kathleen Stieffel of New Orleans, vocalist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an ivory floor length gown of cain-dotted English tulle. The Victorian design featured a high neckline with deep V-bodice accented by tiers of ruffles of the same fabric trimmed with re-embroidered lace. Her full puffed sleeves were also trimmed in identical lace. She wore a veil of silk illusion secured by a wreath of fresh baby's breath.

She carried a free-form cascade of fleur d'amour, white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath entwined with English ivy.

Mrs. Oscar Bustemonte and Christine Theresa Stieffel, sister of the bride, both of Houston, Tex., were matron and maid of honor, respectively.

The attendants were attired in floor length gowns of yellow lace with off-the-shoulder styling. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of yellow and white daisies, alstroemeria, baby's breath and English ivy and wore hairpieces of similar flowers.

Miss Virginia Watts and Henry Watts, both of Houston, cousins of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

Timothy W. O'Banion of Dallas, Tex. was best man.

Biloxi concert series opens today

Twilight Time, the summer concert series in the gardens by the Bay at the Old Brick House, 410 East Bayview, Biloxi, opens 6:30 p.m. Sunday, June 10 with a Biloxi Dixieland Jazz nine-man combo drawn from the ranks of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Jazz Society's Musicians of the Month.

The famous Second Liners will appear with them for a strut through the gardens and the audience.

The concerts are unusual in their sponsorship by twelve Biloxi area garden clubs who have incorporated into the Biloxi Garden Center for the purpose of restoration and preservation of this landmark building dating from Biloxi's first substantial settlement.

Nina Schwartzman, Garden Center president, invites the public to see the house on this true day (a complimentary tour will be conducted during the intermission by Sunday's hostesses, the Sunkist Garden Club, and admission to Twilight Time is without charge). The audience is asked to take lawn chairs or beach blankets for comfortable seating.

Concert dates this year are June 10, July 15 and Aug. 12; however the fine old house is open afternoons from one to five Monday through Friday, for a nominal admission.

Sunday's show is presented by Clark Shaughnessy, piano; Dick Fortner, guitar; Jerry Ross, bass; Shelly Blunt, drums; Jules Galle and Al Arguelles, clarinets; Dr. Woody Rieffel and Charlie Cox, trumpets and Dr. Bill Westfall, tenor sax.

This group and their Second Liners recently headlined the World's Fair premier pre-opening festivities for international representatives of press, television and radio and also played four shows each of the first two opening dates.

Seasoned Twilight Timers, the jazz group has played to full garden crowds for the past two series and are drawn from the largest jazz group in the United States—the Mississippi Coast Jazz Society with over 1,200 members.

Jean Baptiste Carquotte (also spelled Carquotte and Carquet) is believed to have held land grants from both the French and Spanish to the site of the Old Brick House—a grant which ran from Back Bay to the Front Beach of the Mississippi Sound. His grant was confirmed in 1790.

A brick mill and brickyard were situated on this site in 1722 and the house, while undocumented as to exact builder and building age, probably is built from bricks from this brick mill. It is known that Carquotte lived on this site and was one of the largest property owners of early Biloxi.

Once the home of Mayor Earnest Henley, one of Biloxi's first mayors who led a colorful brigade during the War Between the States, the beautiful old house had a chequered past before it was rescued by the garden clubs from oblivion. It was reputed to be haunted, was an early Biloxi marryin'-place and had stood abandoned and derelict before it was decided by the City of Biloxi to the Garden Center for restoration and preservation.

8 and 40

The monthly meeting of the Harrison County Salon #218 of the 8 and 40 was held at the home of Mrs. Helen Helm on Haise Street in Biloxi Friday, June 1 with Petite Chapeau, Mrs. Mattie North presiding.

Chairmen of all committees presented reports. Applications for new members were voted on and approved.

Election of officers for the coming year was held as follows: Petite Le Chapeau—Mrs. Mattie North, Bay St. Louis; First Demi-Chapeau—Mrs. Evelyn Burns, Bay St. Louis; Second Demi-Chapeau—Mrs. Helen Helm, Biloxi; and La Secrétaire-Caissière—Mrs. Anna Gayout, Bay St. Louis.

La Aumonier—Dr. Esther Oeschmann, Bay St. Louis; Le Archiviste—Mrs. Beatrice Ladner, Bay St. Louis; and Le Concierge—Mrs. Vickie Page, Biloxi.

Chairman of committees are: Partnership, Mrs. Evelyn Burns; Children and Youth, Mrs. Genevieve Cole; Constitution and By-Laws, Mrs. Lou Wilkerson and Nurses Scholarship, Dr. Esther Oeschmann.

Ritual and Emblems, Mrs. Anna Bayout; Fun and Fellowship, Mrs. Beatrice Ladner; Finance, Mrs. Shirley Williams; Publicity, Dr. Esther Oeschmann and Scrapbook, Mrs. Rose Ann Thomas.

Plans are being made for installation of officers in August. The Departmental Marche will be held in Jackson, Ms at the Sun and Sand Motel on July 28-29.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. Mattie North and Mrs. Genevieve Cole.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Helen Helm, Mrs. Vickie Page and Mrs. Ovadia Golotte.

The 8 and 40 is a subsidiary organization of the American Legion Auxiliary which began in June 1922. The first Marche Nationale was held in New Orleans.

The objectives of the 8 and 40 are: fun, fellowship and service—such service to be particularly concerned with the welfare of children and assistance to World War orphans, and contributions to, and the participation in, the programs of the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary.

A definite assignment in child welfare work was made to 8 and 40, by the National Child Welfare executive committee of the American Legion Auxiliary in November 1932 in the field of the "Prevention of Juvenile Tuberculosis." Later it was decided that the National Jewish Hospital be assigned to 8 and 40 by the American Legion, national executive committee.

In 1936 the 8 and 40 was authorized to have the special project of scholarships for nurses in order to encourage them to go into the field of TB.

During the course of the years changes took place. TB became less of a threat but was replaced with cystic fibrosis, lung and other respiratory diseases. Today, the responsibility of the 8 and 40 is in the field of lung diseases and all contributions to the National Jewish Hospital are made for maintenance of the hospital and for research in these areas.

Dr. Esther Oeschmann, who is a past departmental chapeau and past national demi-chapeau of the southern division will continue to report news and information concerning 8 and 40 as publicity chairman.

Parish News

By Rev. B.C. Keller, SVD
The Spirit's coming works wonderful changes. Even as he reveals our weakness, he gives us strength. Even as he proves our ignorance, he endows us with wisdom. Even as he strikes us dumb, he opens our mouths in praise.

The second collection today is for the Catholic Communications Campaign. Half of it will be used for our own diocesan TV program, Real to Reel. The other half will be used for national purposes.

Bishop Joseph L. Howze will be at our church today at the 9 a.m. Mass to confirm 18 of our young parishioners in their commitment to the Lord. We welcome Bishop Howze for the occasion and we congratulate him on the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

We also welcome these young people into the adult life of the church. Congratulations, Karen Acker, Brian Barabino, Amadea Collins, Jeff Collins, Bryan Dedeaux, Michelle Dorsey, Richard Hawkins, Charlotte Joseph, Gilbert Labat, Thyrta Labat, Maralana Lewis, Don Lizana, Leslie Lizana, Sonya Price, Gigi Raboteau, Stacey Valentine, Charlene Williams, and John Williams.

The following children have been entered in the Baby of the Fair contest: Tiffany Farve, daughter of Thomas Farve Jr. and Margaret Johnson, and Vincent James Lang, son of Sheila Lang, both sponsored by the Altar Society, and Haleigh Jacobs, daughter of Elmo Jacobs and Marilyn Williams, sponsored by St. Rose Choir.

Entrees for Duke category are: Paxton Williams, son of Laura Williams, sponsored by Mrs. Etta Williams, and Germaine Lymuel, son of Fred Lymuel, sponsored by Mrs. Jennie Johnson.

Attention, please! Due to the summer program at the Baptist Church, we will have our Summer Bible School here at St. Rose, June 18-22, for grades one through six. The children will meet 9-11:30 a.m., Monday through Friday. Sorry about the unforeseen arrangement.

The Diocesan Office of Family Life offers programs helpful to deal with human sexuality, which is so much a part of our being. On Monday, June 18, at 8:30 a.m., Ms. Beth Riley will offer a facet of the Christian Life Program at St. Rose for your youth. An invitation is extended to all students in 8th grade and high school. See you there! The offer is excellent!

The Altar Society will meet next Sunday after the 9 a.m. Mass. The drawing for their $25 raffle will be on July 1.

Parishioners are invited to attend the regular meeting of the Hancock County Branch NAACP tomorrow at Providence Baptist Church in Catahoula at 7 p.m.

Parishioners (17 years or older) are urged to donate a unit of blood at the blood drawing of the American Red Cross Mobile Unit at the American Legion this Wednesday, 2-8 p.m. Their blood supply is low!

Parishioners are invited to attend another of Father Boucree's revival style retreats to be held at St. Augustine Retreat Center, June 22-24. Spend two days and two nights hearing the Word and experiencing the power of God. Arrive at 8 p.m. on Friday and leave after Sunday afternoon liturgy featuring our own Gospel Choir. Stretching your food dollar

By Jan Kelly
Area Consumer Management Specialist
With over 10,000 foods in our grocery stores today, it is not surprising that food shopping is an increasingly complex task.

The number of available foods plus rising food costs force families to spend as much as 22 to 35 percent of their take-home pay on food.

But don't let these two factors cause you to give up nutrition to save money and time. You can give your family nutritious meals and still minimize the cost and time spent food buying.

1. Plan! Plan! Plan! The number one key to nutritious, economical meals is a menu plan and grocery list. Extra and unplanned purchases increase costs by 20 percent.

2. At the store, pick up a flyer in front of the store. Check the staples—foods basic to the family's diet—and buy while on sale.

3. Experiment with 'no-frills' foods. Prices vary as much as 40 percent from brand name items.

4. Try to shop alone when the store is not crowded.

5. Look for unit pricing on food packages and grocery shelves. Compare by the unit or serving as well as total price.

6. Be careful when you buy meat. The most expensive food item for families should be chosen carefully. Watch weight labels according to cuts.

During the holiday season, turkeys should be chosen by weight. The bigger the bird, the more meat it will have in proportion to bone, so you get a better dollar's value.

7. Eggs are sold by size. The rule of thumb on sizes is the better buy comes from the larger size, assuming its cost is no more than 10 cents above the size below.

Egyptian visits US to study drug market

Ailing citizens can walk into a drugstore in Egypt and purchase any medicine that they think might cure their medical problems, said a representative of the largest and oldest pharmaceutical firm in Egypt.
"Two-thirds of the drugs purchased in my country are purchased by the consumer on the advice of friends or on the advice of a pharmacist," said Mohamed F. Rakha, Alexandria branch manager of MISR Pharmaceuticals. "Only one-third are prescribed by a physician."
As a result, most medicines purchased by Egyptians are consumed without the guidance of a physician, and most of their health care dollars are spent on drugs. Rakha wants to reverse these "unfortunate trends."
Currently he is studying American medicine consumption and international drug marketing at the University of Mississippi. His studies, under the guidance of Health Care Administration Professor Mickey Smith, are funded by the Peace Fellowship Program. Peace Fellowships allow foreign professionals to study and do research at American institutions in fields relevant to their country's development needs.
"There is a very big hole between our level of technology and efficiency and the level of technology in the United States," he said. "The pharmaceutical industry is more efficient here and so advanced. I hope to become familiar with the industry here and help my country use its resources more efficiently."
When Rakha goes back to Egypt in May he would like to implement a number of changes in Egypt's pharmaceutical industry. Some changes will be relatively easy to implement, especially those within his own company. Others, however, will be more difficult because they will have to be implemented by the Egyptian government.
Rakha wants his company to evaluate its product portfolio, eliminating outdated, unprofitable and surplus drugs. He will also encourage his company to specialize in producing four or five groups of drugs to realize economies of scale. This, he said, will put new life into his company.

Rakha blames the misuse of medicines in his country on the ease of obtaining them and on price-fixing. His government can correct the situation by enforcing existing laws requiring a physician's prescription to obtain certain drugs and by permitting larger profits.
"The government could minimize the financial stress on existing pharmaceutical firms by allowing them more freedom when pricing products," he said. "A reasonable pricing strategy that takes inflation into consideration would help firms get a better return on their products."
With the help of his government, Rakha would like Egyptian pharmaceutical firms to expand distribution and sales to adjacent Arab and African countries. The low prices on Egyptian products would make them highly competitive in these markets and the profits would renew depleted capital.
With new capital, the Egyptian pharmaceutical industry would be less dependent on foreign companies for raw materials and research and development. Increased exports would also improve Egypt's balance of payment. Egypt is ready to put its resources to better use now that it is no longer at war with Israel, Rakha said. By studying international pharmaceutical marketing under Dr. Smith at Ole Miss, Rakha will be able to guide his company and his country in developing these resources.
"Dr. Smith is a very well-known person in this field (pharmaceutical marketing)," said Rakha. "I am very lucky to be one of his students. When I arrived here I was struck by two things: his great knowledge and professionalism and the humanistic side of him."
"Someday I would like to welcome him in my country and show him the effect of what he has taught me."
